“Demand for recognition of one’s identity is a master concept that unifies much of what is going on in world politics today ... According to Hegel, human history was driven by a struggle for recognition. he argued that the only rational solution to the desire for recognition was universal recognition in which the dignity of every human being was recognized.”

Francis Fukuyama, Identity: The Demand for Dignity and the Politics of Resentment, (London: Profile Books), 2018. (Kindle Version)
